

Justin Wolfe – Syngenta Seeds

Justin Wolfe will become President, Syngenta Seeds effective July 1. Bringing nearly 30 years of agriculture industry experience, Justin has been serving as the North America Regional Director for Syngenta Seeds since 2020 and is currently located in Chicago, Illinois.

Justin joined Syngenta in September 2018, where he led the company's Europe, Africa and Middle East (EAME) seeds business. During his tenure, he successfully transformed the organization into a customer-focused, dedicated seed organization with strong fundamental growth.

Prior to Syngenta, Justin held various roles with Monsanto, including Vice President of Marketing (Europe and Middle East), Managing Director & Commercial Vice President (East Europe), and Europe & Middle East Commercial Operations Vice President. He moved to Europe in 2012, where he lived in three countries (Hungary, Ukraine and Switzerland), before returning to the U.S. in 2020.

Justin has had a successful track record and experience in P&L and general management, commercial operations, marketing, strategy, licensing and M&A. He is a transformational leader with a strength in developing people and teams. He received a Bachelor of Science in Business Administration from Montana State University in 1993 and an Executive Master of International Business from Saint Louis University in 2008.
